

I'm a Man

You're telling me a story, telling me a story of a guarantee.
I hear it from the inside, I hear it from the outside it's a travesty to me.
You have your afflictions, you have your convictions you're a prodigy to be.

Yeah, well, Ah-Ah I'm a man, I'm a man.

Taken care of business, hiding from the witness of absurdity,
I see it from the inside, I see it from the outside it's infinity to me.
How can you tell me, how did you tell me, it's okay for me to be.

Yeah, well, Ah-Ah I'm a man, I'm a man.
Oh, yes I'm a man, Yes I am.

You don't want to understand, throw away that contraband.
I'm not wearin' that Coco van, I got hand.
I don't mind sharing my things, remember blue, pink is for queens,
Forget the things I say to you, I'm a man, oh, not a fool.

I've travelled a distance, practiced persistence, I'm a two instead of three.
I'm burnin' a fire, changin' a tire, It's what I do you see.
All your partitions, and road side convictions you're a fallacy to me.

Yeah, well, Ah-Ah I'm a man, I'm a man.
Oh, yes I'm a man, Yes I am.

Take your make-up from my car, It's my ride, it's not a store.
I'm not worried, no not at all, hear my call.
I don't mind sharing my things, remember blue, pink is for queens,
Forget the things I say to you, I'm a man, oh, not a fool.

All right, now,
Yes I'm a man, yes I am,
Yes I'm a man, yes I am,
I'm a man.
